The APCM shall receive from the PCC and shall be free to discuss:-
  a) a report on changes in the roll since the last APCM, except in those years in which a new roll is prepared.

  c) a report from the Treasurer on parish finances.

  d) Independent Examiner or Auditor to the PCC (the Treasurer should not propose or second the Auditor!).

When you have written the draft minutes show them to the Chairman for approval. Then get them, photocopied and circulated. It is best if the minutes are circulated as soon as possible after the meeting. They will not, of course, be formally agreed until the next full meeting of the PCC.
Always keep some spare copies until the next meeting and retain your original notes until the minutes have been approved by the PCC. Don’t be afraid to use “code” words to give life to the minutes. For instance, a “lively” discussion can mean that blows were not actually exchanged, a “heated” discussion probably involved casualties, whilst a “full and frank” discussion needs Kate Adie to take the minutes!

Circulating the minutes
One method is to circulate the minutes as soon as possible after the meeting (preferably within two weeks) to prompt those responsible for taking action. Another method is to circulate the minutes with the agenda for the next meeting. You must establish with the PCC which arrangements they prefer (if this has not been agreed already). In any case, spare copies should be available at the next meeting for members who have mislaid theirs!
Copies of the minutes should be sent to each member of the PCC.
A copy of the minutes (but not the confidential part) must be available for public inspection.
It is helpful to keep a file with the agenda and minutes (in date order) and you should take the file to each meeting and ensure that the Chairman signs the file copy of the minutes.

Retaining the minutes
The minutes must be retained indefinitely - they are an historical record. There are several ways of ensuring that pages cannot be removed from the minute book i.e. numbering pages, or numbering items through a year.
OTHER POINTS

Listen to the discussion and note the points on which the meeting reaches general agreement. If there is a clear split in opinion summarise both sides.

If you are unsure of the conclusions reached, or decisions taken, on a particular item you must ask the Chairman to summarise the discussion. A good Chairman will do this anyway, for the benefit of the meeting as a whole, especially if the discussion has been a long one.

Make notes during the meeting and write up the minutes afterwards. Do this as soon as possible while the proceedings are still fresh in your mind.

Minutes are effectively a history of the PCC and as such should normally be written in the past tense. They should be written so as to give someone who was not at the meeting a clear summary of what took place.

Sections and paragraphs within the minutes should be numbered for easy reference and should have clear headings.

Matters discussed in different parts of the meeting can be brought together in the minutes if this makes the record of the meeting more understandable.

When the PCC decides on action to be taken, make sure that both the action and the person taking it are clearly shown in the minutes. (You may find it helpful to include an “Action Column” which lists the person responsible against each item requiring action. Alternatively you could underline, or show in capital letters, both the action and the person taking it).

The PCC as a whole is responsible for the decisions taken at its meetings. However, any member can ask to have his/her dissent formally recorded in the minutes.

Where the PCC decides that part of the meeting is confidential, you should minute those items separately (preferably on coloured paper and marked “Confidential”).

PREPARING AGENDAS

One of the Secretary’s main responsibilities is to prepare an agenda for each meeting in consultation with the Chairman. It may help to arrange a meeting to agree the items for the agenda.

Remember that any member of the PCC is entitled to ask for an item to be included.

Regular agenda items will be:

- apologies for absence
- confirming the minutes of the last meeting
- matters arising from the minutes
- receiving minutes of committees and working parties (if these have been established by the PCC)
- matters arising from these minutes
- correspondence
- any items requested by the Deanery or Diocese
- confidentiality

Each agenda item should be worded in a way that makes its purpose clear. It may even be helpful to indicate how much time is expected to be spent on each item. A draft agenda is set out on page 7 as a general guide.

Ten clear days before the meeting a notice announcing the meeting and signed by the Incumbent should be posted in the Church Porch.

The agenda must be sent out at least 7 clear days before each meeting. Copies of any additional papers including the minutes of the previous meeting (if these have not been circulated already), should be attached.

A copy of the agenda and papers should be made available in the Church for public inspection - apart for confidential material.

14. Publication of minutes: To decide whether any items should be excluded from the minutes to be made available for public inspection (all meetings).

Notes
- If a guest is attending for one or a limited number of items it is courteous to place the item(s) near the beginning of the agenda so that the guest need not remain for items for which he/she is not required.
- Any other urgent business - any item requiring an answer should be notified to the Chairman or Incumbent at least 48 hours before the meeting. Major items of business should NOT be raised under this heading, except in an emergency. They should be included as separate items on the next agenda.

WRITING MINUTES
The purpose of taking minutes is to provide a record of a meeting that is:
- Accurate
- Brief
- Clear

Minutes
- should be concise and to the point
- must record all important facts and the results of discussions
- must record the wording of formal motions, resolutions and amendments together with voting figures
- should not normally record details of actual discussions although they should indicate the main areas of discussion
- should not be a rambling narrative of who said what to whom!

The minutes of formal meetings normally follow a set pattern:
- Description of meeting - ie: title, date, time, place, etc
- List of those present
- Apologies for absence
- Minutes of the last meeting
- Record of any corrections
- Note that minutes were approved
- Matters arising from the minutes - normally this reports action taken as a result of decisions at the last meeting
- Other agenda items
- Date of next meeting

Confidentiality - i.e: deciding whether any items should not be discussed outside the meeting, and whether any items should be recorded separately in a Confidential section.

Minutes, or records, of the proceedings of meetings of the PCC must be written down and signed at the next meeting by the Chairman to confirm that they are an accurate record of what happened.
